

The Backshop Flyer, Train 1311, Fresh from the Backshop and Ready For Service...

This is a combined edition of my Newsletters that includes an exceptional list of new products, pre-orders and a couple of great new DCC tips.

Happy Thanksgiving to all. I pray that you will take time in the coming days to enjoy this most special holiday and give thanks for all of OUR blessings! I hope you will take some extra time to enjoy family and friends this holiday season. I am thankful for my wife, my children, my mother-in-law (who really make this possible through their support), and for all of my family whom I do not get to see nearly enough. I am thankful to have the opportunity to serve YOU in your pursuit of this wonderful hobby. I am also very thankful that YOU have allowed me to have the opportunity to share some of the good model railroading news and products going on at SBS4DCC. Thank you for your interest, your patience and your patronage.

Don't forget, I offer locomotives, rolling stock, track and landscaping in addition to one of the best selections of DCC products on the ~~internet~~ planet.

Happy Turkey Day...

High Ball... All greens to SBS4DCC.com.

Micro-Trains has produced a new and improved coupler for our 4-wheel and 6-wheel Commonwealth Passenger Trucks (also known as 1017 and 1018 trucks).

This new coupler, which we'll refer to as the 1017-2, is designed to reduce excess movement of the coupler in the box which provides better holding power when pulling longer trains.

This coupler will be in all of our existing black and silver 1017 and 1018 truck packs, but it will also be sold separately.

SBS4DCC - Stock Status Information

Just a reminder that SBS4DCC features real-time inventory tracking. If it says it is in stock... it IS... I try to maintain a strong selection of DCC and Model Railroad products and try not to hide what I do not stock yet. I appreciate the opportunity to provide catalog items when you can wait a few extra days as this makes a huge difference in my ability to grow and expand my selection.

Every now and then, I do run out of an item. Backorders are accepted on many stock items and orders can still be placed for those items through the web store.

Don't see what you need? I have a growing list of suppliers so be sure to ask about any product not listed on my site.

Now Boarding...

Be sure to take advantage of our no-obligation Pre-Order Special featuring $1 domestic shipping. No deposit is required and payment is not due until the units are in stock.

Backshop DCC Tip Of The Month...

I have added an excellent new page to the website this month covering ESU LokSound 73900 Select 21MTC Speaker Wiring.

For my newsletter subscribers only, I offer two tips this month.

First, some comments about programmer power supplies.

I have struggled in the past with getting files to load on various model decoders. I have also struggled with finding replacement power supplies the increase the voltage and amperage supplied to the fancy devices I have to have to load the files like the LokProgrammer, the PR3 or the MXULFA. I have heard that this, among a sea of other "garage updates", will fix the problem.

Well, my best wall-wart faded into a pile of recyclable's one day recently and I had a "light bulb moment". I grabbed my old MRC Control Master 20 DC Power Pack that had been idled since the day I installed my first decoder and plugged it in. To my delight, I have all but eliminated those programming issues. It has lots of clean power and it is adjustable too. My LokProgrammer just loves it. The best part is I finally found a use for that pile of power packs I have held onto for no good reason except they were good power packs once.

Second, some comments about using multiple sound decoders in a single installation.

I was working on a project recently that required me to use two sound decoders in a single installation. Sound decoders have a physical limit on the amount of on-board memory and this project exceed that threshold. Not thinking through the project completely, I fired up the iron and made common connections for the power input and speaker output. When I tested the installation, decoder one sounded great. All of the files played perfectly. Curiously, decoder two was mute. So, I fiddled around with it for a while, finally going to the extreme of unhooking everything and plugging it in to the ESU 51900 LokTester Decoder Test Set. Another mute decoder. Bummer. I stared at the whole mess for a few minutes and had another one of those "light bulb moments" when my focus landed on those two brown wires. The electrical output from Decoder A was directly tied to Decoder B at the connection on the speaker.

Decoder amps are just like any other audio device. If you want to connect multiple amps to single speaker, you need to use a speaker switching box or other device that will prevent the two electrical outputs from crossing and shorting out. You might damage one or both amps like I did...

The golden rule here... You can always use more than one speaker per decoder but you should never use more than one decoder per speaker.

Don't forget to visit the Tutorials, Tips & Tricks section of website for lots of great DCC info and How-To's.

Here are a couple of great websites I have come across on the WWW that I want to share. I think you will enjoy them too.

SBS4DCC Varnish Lighting...

I continue to receive lots of positive feedback regarding the Z, N and HO Scale Passenger Car Lighting Boards. I hope you will give them a try on your next car lighting project.

I have added the N Kato Passenger Car Light Kit Installation page to the website as bit of self-promotion of my light kits and a good general guide and example of techniques I use for installation.

Also be sure to check the Z, N and HO Scale Passenger Car Lighting Additional Board Connection Diagrams and Z, N and HO Scale Passenger Car Lighting Additional Application Notes pages for additional information about these great products.
